To the friendly reader health.

THe secret loue (that each man ought to beare, Vnto the soyle where he hath fostred beene)
Importeth me of force to take some care
And (caring) speake with griefe what I haue seene,
Oh! I haue seene (and seeing I haue grieued)
Much people spoyled that sought to be relieued,
The learned art of Phisicke (high esteemed,
In times before) is now so much abused,
That Ideotes, fooles, and runnagates so deemd
Are now thought fit in healing to be vsed.
(Nay) learned skill is in so high disgrace,
That shifting mates are fittest for this place,
I cannot chuse but needes I must vnfold)
The dangerous hurts, and miseries I haue seene,
By artlesse bussardes (bayardes blinde yet bolde)
Commited in this art of great esteeme,
Some spoyled quite, some brought from health to sickenesse,
Some to consumption some to desperat madnesse.
If this bee curing, let the simple iudge.
(And yet I leaue the iudgement to a foe)
For who more foe to learning then the ignorant.
And simple sonne that doth no learning know,
Yea these they be that most in danger are,
And for whose sake I take the greatest care.
They, they poore soules are subiect to the craft,
And slepe deceipt of these base cogging mates,
Not fit by meanes (that good) to purchase ought,
Or liue by lawfull trades in their estates
But getting woordes of arte (they know not what)
Amaze poore peoples eares with feigned chatte.
An English booke [by chance] twise lookt vppon:
Perhaps once read yet neuer vnderstoode.
will make a perfect good Phision,
And Surgion too, for country passing good.

[Ch

To the Reader.

(Oh looke what gifts he hath by inſpiration,
The ſimple thinkes and ſayes with admiration,)
My ſelfe could name (but that were too to plaine,
Two learned trades men, in their crafts well ſeene,
In Phiſicke and Surgerie making gayne
In great account with thoſe that ſimple beene,
Both oft their learninges (if it were in one,)
Would fyll an eggeſhell eare the meate were gone,
If ſuch rude mates be meete for peoples health
If ſuch confuſion be ſo lightly deemd,
If ſuch be men fit for a common wealth,
Then farewell learned (once well eſteemed:)
The tedious art of Phiſicke darke and long,
Is now belike ſoone learned as a ſong.
Spare then your purſe (poore ſtudentes) ſpare your tyme,
Imploy your youth to learne ſome craft, ſome trade,
If that chance faile, a month will ſerue to clime
To Phiſickes heigh, or Surgeon to be made:
And ſuch a one ſhall pleaſe the country more,
Then twenty ſchollers (yea then twenty ſcore.

A Prognostication for this present yeere 1600.

Wherein is obserued the grounds of the alteration of the foure quartes of the yeere, and also the estate of the ayre for each seuerall day, with the change of the Moone, and the time of the Eclipse not forgotten, with good and bad dayes touching minstring of Phisicke and surgerie. Calculated and referred specially to the longitude and Elleuation of the poole Artick of the towne of Branckery in Essex, by Robert Waſon, Phisition.

Principiis obsta.
Ne sit pententia sero.

Imprinted at London by Richard Watkins and Iames Roberts.

Obſeruations touching the eſtate of the foure quarters of this preſent yeere. 1600.

Fyrſt of VVinter.

Though rewmaticke and colde to outward ſence,
Our winter ſeemes, and like diſeaſes breeding,
Yet inward partes (our natures beſt defence)
Are hot and able to diſgeſt large feeding,
Keepe then thy outward partes from nipping colde,
Drinke leſſe, eate more drye warming meate be bolde.

This winter ſeaſon (which began at the Sunnes entrance into the firſt ſigne of the Hiemall triplicitie Capricorne:) endeth when it hath finiſhed his courſe through the ſame three laſt poyntes of the Zodiaque, concluding with the laſt minute of Piſces (which is the full ſpace of 89. daies, from the xxi. of December in the yere paſt 99. to the xxi. of March this preſent yeere,) is diſpoſed this yeere (by the Iudgement of learned writers, drawne from the aſpects of the ſtarres, and eſpecially the vii. Planettes) to keepe reaſonable winterlike windie courſe, from the beginning of Ianuary till towardes the ende of that moone, at which time ſome ſeaſonable froſtes and drye ſtormes of haile will be ſomewhat increaſed. The New Moone in Februarie betokeneth more ſtore of wet, till the full. And thoſe two laſt quarters (but for the varietie of windes) ſeeme to promiſe a more kindly ſpringe, and drye warme weather, beneficiall to the earthes increaſe and growth of peſarie prouiſion.

Sicknesſes like to afflict vs moſt this ſeaſon withe Quotidians and Putrid agues, Swimmings in the head, Swellinges in the face and neck, running eyes, and coldeneſſe in the head, alſo windineſſe and yll diſgeſtion in the ſtomacke,

Cough

Coughes and dangerous ſtuffings in the Lunges, baſtards Pluriſies and other mixed impoſtumes, ſwellings in the body, and gripinges in the gattes, and much tormenting the kidneyes and bladder to thoſe that are ſubiect to diſeaſes in thoſe parts. The Gout alſo and payns in the ioynts will be very buſie this quarter.

Vnfit our Winter is to bleede or purge,
Except great cauſe by good aduiſe do vrge.

Of the Spring.

Spring tyme reducing all things to a meane, yelding the earth a comely gallant hew.
(VVhich earſt before was barren drye and leane.)
ſo in our vaynes freſh ſpirites doth renew:
Let diet now be meane and of the beſt, meates pure and light, and eaſie to diſgeſt.

VVHen the continuall mouing Sunne hath ended his wearieſſe courſe in the laſt minut of the laſt ſigne Piſces, he preſently entreth a freſh the firſt of the xii. ſignes, Aries, & ſo a new ſolare yere is begun, & the ſame agayne to be deuided into foure quarters (as afore) the ſame Sunne paſſing in order thorowe the foure triplicities, hauing each of them three Signes, whereof Aries, Taurus, and Gemini are the firſt, conteyning the ſpace of our vſuall Spring, which is 93. dayes in number, namely from the firſt of March, till the xii. of Iune, the dayes in all this time increaſing in length, as in other yeares before.

This Spring (if Starres effects be not by the high helt altered) is like to be (for the whole time of the firſt Moone) an indifferent kindly warme time, (though ſpringing showes fall ſometimes to the earthes good) the Newe Moone (in April promiseth no lesse, yet winds will be very lowde, and threaten worse then perhappes they can performe. The ende of this Moone (notwithstanding) will bring certaine colde frostes, and make the beginning of May drye and windie (which is accounted kindly.) May is not like to be an yll Moneth (though some cloudie, close dayes beat the change of the Moone.) The beginning of June is like to be hotte and close, and now and then some reasonable stormes to moysten the ground.

Diseases of this time (besides many of those in the former quarter noted) are like to be also burning Agues, and hotte effectes of the brayne, hotte Rewmes in the eyes, and teeth, with much inflamation, and payne in those daungerous & sensible members, the Pluriesie, the Squinancie, Peripneumonia, and hot Apostumes with very common Blistering scabbes and tetters, and sharpe Scalding of the urine, troublesome to those that are of a Cholericke disposition. The heate of blood will cause dangerous malasies, especially to such as haue vsed hotte wines and ouermuch strong drinkes. The kidneyes with heate are like to be much distempered, and sharpe paynes in those partes which are called the urine conduites.

Who wanteth helpe of Learned phisickes skill,
may now take time most fit to ease his yll.

Of Sommer.

The scorching heate of summer shining rayes,
Dissolueth so the prime of natures heate,
That inward strength and moysture fore decayes:
Vnlesse (with care) men take refreshing meate:
Small meates therefore and boyled be thy Diet,
more store of drinke, take ease, and liue in quiet.

When

VVhen the ſunne hath gotten to the higheſt poynt in his courſe (being at nonetide with vs neare to the Verticall point of our Climat) and in the firſt degree of the Sommer Solſticiall Signe Cancer (being the firſt ſigne of the ſecond triplicitie, conteyning Cancer, Leo, Virgo,) then is the firſt day of our Sommer when the dayes are at the greateſt length, and ſo begin to ſhorten by degrees: This quarter beginneth vppon the xii. day of June, and endureth till the xii. of December next, which is the ſpace of 93. dayes.

This quarter is diſpoſed (at the beginning till a New Moone,) to much varietie and inconſtancie in the weather one while lowring, cloſe and weawie, then againe windes and bluſtering weather, with thunder, lightning, and tempeſtous blaſtes intermeaſed ſometimes. The new moone promiſeth but a little better tyll the full, and then alſo wet weather will be no great newes. Auguſt giueth ſome hope of change of weather, but the whole month is doubtfull till the end, when, with a new Moone ſome likelyhood of new weather will begin, and to conclud ethis ſeaſon with a better wether at the fadewel, then it had in the whole time of continuance.

The infirmities of this time, eſpecially hotte Agues, as Stitches and Cauſos, the Collerick payne in the ſtomack and much vomiting, with ſpitting of blood and rawneſſe thereby, alſo inflamations of the liuer, kidneyes and raynes fluxes of the bowels and heate in the inwards partes Conſuming Agues, & waſting diſeaſes, ſucceeding many feuers, and much breaking out by reaſon of ſalte Reume & thinne hotte matter, ſeking to get foorth by the poores and outward ſkinne, and generally many cholleticke diſeaſes, breding ſharp agues in thoſe which neglecten their health in the ſpring time before.

As winters colde, ſo ſommers heate contrarie.
Aduiſeth men in phiſicke to be warie.

A Prognostication

Of Autumne.

The Last and woorst of all the seasons gone,
Is Autumne quarter for varietie,
Of heat and colde (not keeping meane in one,)
But much distempered with extremitie:
Now fruites are ripe corruption doth abounde,
Decrease thy drinke, increase meates pure and sound.

The Sunne hauing passed the three Sommer signes, and finished the second trigon of the Zodiacke, is now come to the second Equinoctiall, when the day and nyght are agayne of one Equall length, (as was also in the Spring) This is the third quarter of the yeare Astrologicall, and the fourth and last of our English yeere by account. It beginneth vpon the xiii of September this present yeere, at which time the sunne entreth the foresayde Equinoctiall singe Libra, and endeth at the xii. of December following, at the last minut of the last singe of this triplicitie Sagitarius, the whole time of this quarter being in all 90. dayes ꝙr.

Touching the estate of this season. It is lyke to begin very kyndly but for some varyable wyndes till the new Moone, and then also not very bad till the last quarter of the same Moone. For then some blustring stormes and vnkinde wet wether will be somewhat liberall. The new Moone in October giueth small hope of amendment, but bringeth diueres times the lyke wether, which will be scarcely bettered for any longe time during the last halfe parte of the season till the very ende.

Diseases of this vnpleasant season will be vnkind coldes mixed wandring Agues, poses, stuffinges and stoutnesse of breath, Affects of the Splene, obstructions in the bladder, Passio Iliaca, Collica, and Nephritica very lively huſe, Gouts alſo, and Joynt paynes, running Scabbes, and hot bliſtering vlcers, and ſwelling in the legges, and feete and much lameneſſe, & ache in the bones by defluction of Reume, and cold dropſilike humors, diſpoſed naturally to fall downewardes.

The vſe of fruites and danger of this time,
Calles now as much (as ſpring) for medicine.

The likelihood of weather and change of the Ayre for euery day in this yeere. 1600.

THe ſureſt Archer both not alwayes hit
The marke (oppoſed to his ayme in fight)
Yet is he not diſgraced quite for it.
But ſometyme gracte (with oh well ſhot and right:)
Our marke (beyond the moone) is ſcarce in viewe
How can our iudgement alwayes then be trewe,
(The ſtars our marke) the windes vnſtedfaſt are
And they ſometyme will cleare a cloudie day:
Sometyme againe (when weather might be fayre)
Contrarie windes make change an other waye.
So then the Planets iudgement might be trew,
If greater force their ſtrength did not ſubdew
Good reaſon tis the creature ſhould obay
(If he that made the creature but commaundes)
The ſtars effectes, the Planetes force doth ſtay.
And yeelde their ſtrenth, if he but countermaundes:
Then blame not arte (though all thinges proue not trew:)
Giue God his right, let learning haue the dew.

FINIS.

The Conclusion.

THus sixteene hundred yeeres are at an end since Christ for vs performd that we the cl were
To vs (his foes) shewing himselfe a frend
(yea such a frend as could not be a yet
One Lambs pure blood washt cleane the worldes corrup
Euen to the end, from Adams first creation.
How many thousand thousand soules were bound,
to (greedy) Satans (boutelesse) perdition.
If God and Man (Gods sunne) had not beene found,
to dissanull that sinfull bonds condition.
The bond was canceld then, the quittance seald,
With dearer blood then all the world could yeeld.
Besides this great good turne (beyond compare)
A second loue, in these our dayes, is showne,
A vertuous Queene, a princesse very rare.
is geuen to vs, whose like what age hath knowne,
To loue (alone) all worthy prayse is dew,
For these and other blessings old and new.
